

EVERYONE'S EDMONTON

Have you spotted new homes in your neighbourhood recently?

Well, that's a good thing, because residential infill plays a huge role in the way Edmonton grows, promoting sustainability, diversity and accessibility for all residents.

DEVELOPING TOGETHER

There are teams leading many infill initiatives across Edmonton. It's their job to facilitate open communication and develop helpful tools for citizens, builders and developers.

Meet our Teams

Infill Liaison Team

Dedicated to advancing the City's infill conversations through education and outreach, this team supports complex infill inquiries and ongoing policy development.

Infill Compliance Team

This bylaw enforcement team is dedicated to responding to citizen complaints and proactively monitoring infill construction sites.

Residential Infill Development Approvals Team

This group deals exclusively with infill development permit applications. Over 4,700 submissions have been reviewed since its launch.

Development Completion Permit Team

Launching in 2017, this team will inspect infill developments to ensure they conform to the approved development permit conditions and plans.
